

PRESS RELEASE

TEXAN: Big School Recycling Competitions for students at the Municipality of Athens and the Region of Peloponnese

Great prizes await the 3 school classes for each competition that will recycle most of the materials in the state-of-the-art Multipurpose Recycling Centers of TEXAN, in collaboration with the Municipality of Athens and FODSA (Solid Waste Management Body) of Peloponnese.

Within the framework of TEXAN Corporate Social Responsibility program, two new big School Recycling Competitions are organized for Primary and Secondary School students, both of the Municipality of Athens and FODSA (Solid Waste Management Body) from the Municipalities of the Region of Peloponnese, under the auspices of the Ministry of Education, Religious Affairs and Sports, which will last until May 25, 2024.

The aim of these competitions is to raise awareness and actively involve young people, especially students, in the recycling process, while contributing to the fulfillment of the quantitative recycling targets, which are obligations of the country toward the European Union for sustainable development and environmental protection.

The school classes with the highest participation in each competition will win unique gifts – prizes.

You can find out more about the participation and terms of the competitions at www.recycling.center.gr.
